Index Islamicus is THE international classified bibliography of publications in European languages on all aspects of Islam and the Muslim world. Rightly described as 'an indispensable tool for libraries, graduates and undergraduates alike, it provides the reader with an effective overview of what has been published on a given subject in the field of Islamic Studies in its broadest sense. It is produced by an editorial team working at the School of Oriental and African Studies in London, established to transmit knowledge about Islamic and Middle East studies, which have traditionally been part of the curriculum of SOAS. Records included in the database cover almost 100 years of publications on the world of Islam. Material cited in the Index Islamicus includes not only work written about the Middle East, but also about the other main Muslim areas of Asia and Africa, plus Muslim minorities elsewhere. Over 3,000 journals are monitored for inclusion in the database, together with conference proceedings, monographs, multi-authored works and book reviews. Journals and books are indexed down to the article and chapter level.

The well-known Index Islamicus classification scheme, uniquely and carefully geared to the field of Islamic Studies, allows one to quickly find all literature headed under a particular, broader subject area (e.g., Education, Philosophy, Shi'ism, Sudan, Palestine, Israel, as well as their subcategories).

Product enhancements planned for Index Islamicus in 2012 include improved online search functionalities because of the recently extended classification scheme and the significantly improved descriptors (keywords).

Extensive indexes

Those who prefer more specific queries, have at their disposal two elaborate indexes, facilitating quick and effective searches: The subject index guides the user to material on specialised subjects not covered by the classification scheme (e.g. Al-Azhar, mawlid, railways), and also to items relevant to one subject but classified under another. The name index lists not only authors, but also editors, translators, reviewers and personal subjects. So researchers interested in, for instance, Ibn Khaldun or Muhammad Iqbal or the Ayatollah Khomeini can quickly find publications both by and about them.
